DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2, 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rauch (6119443).

Rauch discloses:

cl. 1:

a gathering and picking device comprising:

a picking gap (8) defined by a stripper plate (7) having a length & first & second sides;

a first gathering element on the first side (left most disk 1) provided with carrier element (see col. 3, ln 23-28);

a second gathering element on the second side (disk 1, right of the first disk);

a picking unit (roller 10; capable of pulling the stalks downward so the useful parts are removed, col. 3, ln 49-50);

cl. 2:

the gathering elements capable of introducing the plants into the picking gap;

cl. 4:

the elements are driven inherently synchronously;

cl. 5:

the carrier elements are angularly offset from each other, for example in the left most disk (element) carrier element at the corner of divider ref 2 is angularly offset from the carrier element of the right disk's carrier element that is near roller ref 11;

cl. 6:

since in col. 3, ln 23-28, the conveying disks / first & second gathering elements are used for conveying & holding stalk in the recesses ref 3, therefore the first & second gathering elements are designed for conveying as claimed, i.e. capable of conveying in the manner claimed.

Art Unit: 3671

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wolters et al (US 2001/0003237 A1).

Wolters discloses:

cl. 1:

a feeding & picking device (10) comprising:
a picking gap / snapping channel (26) defined by a stripper plate / snapping bar (24) having a first & second sides (upper & lower sides) & a length (see fig 13); a first (14) & second (16) gathering with carrier elements (44 & 46) on the first & second sides respectively rotated about a first & second single axis (as shown by the upper single axis and lower single axis in fig 6);
a picking unit / snapping roll (18 or 20);

cl. 2:

the first & second gathering elements are designed for carrying out the function recited in the claim;

cl. 3:

the first & second gathering elements have overlapping envelopes (see fig 6);

Art Unit: 3671

cl. 4:

the first & second gathering elements are synchronously driven (see fig 6);

cl. 5:

the carrier elements of the first & second gathering elements are angularly offset (see fig 6)

cl. 6:

the picking gap has an effective length and the first & second gathering elements are designed for conveying the plants along the effective length of the picking gap (§ 47).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment to claim "first single" & "second single" axes have been noted and view of that a new rejection is made, as detailed above.

The final Office action, dated 11/28/2005, was vacated

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

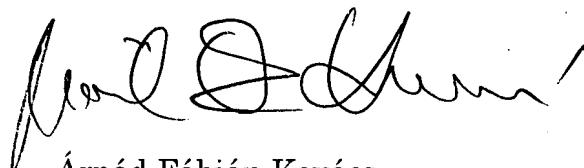

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
